Council Acts On Housing

BOYCOTT!

By JIM MARINO
Asst. Editorial Editor

"BOYCOTT!"

Unanimously, Student Council voted Thursday night to urge that all University students boycott recently distributed one year housing agreements passed out to dormitories this week.

Representative James King, Student Body President Rick Helwig, and numerous other Council members emphatically stated the contract did not meet the approval of their constituents. They urged an immediate "summit meeting" be held with key administrators to find a more equitable solution to the housing question.

The vote was 44-0 to support the boycott proposal.

Council members suggesting the boycott interpreted it as a major bargaining tool with which they could approach administrators at the requested meeting.

Lee McClelland, Council treasurer, was the originator of the initial proposal instigating the boycott. There was no dissention. McClelland advised that administrative officials would be collecting the agreements at dormitories "in about two weeks."

Council supported the stipulation, also, that if an agreement is reached at this "summit meeting" which is favorable to the Council committee voicing opposition, the boycott would from that time cease to be endorsed by Council.

Committee members include Rick Helwig, Paul Buehrer, junior representative, Nick Licate, member, SDS, Thomas Parrish, junior representative, among others.

SDS member Nick Licate stated firmly that the administration by approving the one year housing agreement was "clearly not abiding by the wishes of the student body."

His comments were met with a round of applause by the Council members and an estimated 125 guests attending the marathon session.

Council also heard Al Morgan, senior representative, blast this same Council for, "failing to represent the views of the people who put us in office."

This representative based his feelings on a survey he and Rick Brenner, freshman representative conducted recently which asked students to comment on their views of Student Council and the entire realm of student government.

"Look at our agenda this evening," Morgan said. "Most of our legislation pertains only to amendments proposing a revamping of our Constitutional structure. Where are the issues which deal with the pressing concerns of our constituents?"

His address was climaxed by the proposing of a resolution to call for a constitutional convention to draft a new governmental structure for the student body here.

He suggested delegates from all University housing units, old fraternity row, new fraternity row, sorority row, commuters, and also five graduate students be elected at large for the purpose of the convention.

In what amounted to a filibustering session with his co-sponsors of this legislation, Rick Brenner, and John Thomas, Compton Hall representative, Morgan condemned the "prestige-seeking" individuals he said were on Council.

"Let's give our constituents the leadership they expect. Let's listen to their ideas when they approach us, and let's make more of an effort to approach them," Morgan said, and Brenner and Thomas echoed.

"Most people consider us but an advisory board to Faculty Senate," Brenner stated, "and an advisory board that Faculty Senate doesn't listen to, at that."

Council voted to accept the resolution, and take the matter under advisement through a committee headed by Paul Buehrer.

Ed Sewell, senior class president, shocked Council into silence by stating attention be given here to "discrimination."

"I propose a committee be formed to look into the treatment of minority groups on this campus," Sewell said.

"Do you realize that only four-fifths of one per cent of students here are Negro? And by the same token, three-fifths of a basketball team that is now on its way to an NCAA tournament is Negro?"

he added.

Rick Helwig stepped out of his role as Council President then to state, "Yes, And aren't we also aware that there is an administrator in our University who cannot yet find a home in Bowling Green?"

Council next adopted unanimously a move by the Student Body President to channel $1,250 from the monies collected during "Charities Week," to a Delta Tau Delta Fire Disaster Fund, with the primary purpose of this sum to be used by Deltas to restore textbooks lost in the blaze Sunday.

A resolution to condemn the ruling of an area judge which restricted the mail and personal visits of two former University students convicted on narcotics charges, also passed Council.

Council's indignation is now to be passed on to Wood County probatory officials, and a copy also to the judge involved, Common Pleas Court Judge Floyd Collier.

In other Council action a resolution concerning the distribution of birth control devices by the University Health Center was defeated.

New commuter representatives named during the session were: in-town, Gary Carr and Kenn Rohrs; out-of-town, Fred George and Carol Roper.

Gen. Tillson Speaks Out On Vietnam

"I would predict a big change in the war by this summer," said Major General John C.F. Tillson.

A former commanding general in Vietnam and current deputy commanding general, 1st U.S. Army, General Tillson was here to visit the Army ROTC detachment and to speak to members of the Army ROTC advanced course.

Following his arrival at 12:35 p.m., the General answered questions about the state of the war in Vietnam.

"It's obvious that the situation has worsened severely since I left last September," he said. "I don't think anyone really believed they (the Communists) could make it in the strong way they

Rumania Leaves Red Conference

BUDAPEST, Hungary (AP) -- Rumania walked out on a meeting of 66 Communist parties Thursday and tore a gaping new breach in the world Communist facade.

In head-on collision with the Soviet Union, the Rumanian delegation stalked out after other parties refused to satisfy its demands to stop attacking Red China, Rumanian sources reported.

Independent-minded Rumania has sought to steer a neutral role in the Moscow-Peking conflict under the relatively new leadership of Nicolae Ceausescu in Bucharest. He is a tireless challenger of Kremlin domination of the Soviet bloc.

The walkout Thursday night recalled the break two decades ago between the Soviet Union of Joseph Stalin and Yugoslavia, whose President Tito first rebelled against Moscow's dictatorial role over the Communist movement.

Rumania charged Stalinist tactics were being used at the Budapest meeting at which the Soviet Union has campaigned for a world Communist conference next autumn.

The Rumanians argued that a world meeting under present conditions of division over the Soviet-Chinese dispute would "only flagrantly illustrate on a world scale the lack of unity between Communist parties."

The walkout was preceded by Rumanian demands for a joint apology for a Syrian Communist charge that Rumania was pro-Israeli and a promise for an end to criticism of Red China.

The demands hit directly at the Soviet Union, which had used the meeting to attack Chinese policies despite an agreement - made on Rumanian insistence - to avoid such attacks.

An eight-parties committee was appointed by the 66-parties meeting after day-long wrangling over the Rumanian demands, and it was supposed to work out something.

But the talks broke down and the Rumanian delegation left the Hotel Gellert, where the secret meeting had been held behind police guard, the sources said. The Rumanians remained in Budapest overnight, apparently waiting for a plane home to Bucharest Friday.

With the Rumanians out of the meeting, it was expected to continue with speeches that generally accepted the obvious Soviet determination to hold a conference in Moscow next November or December - even if some parties boycott it.

The 15 parties missing from Budapest, including the Chinese, North Vietnamese, North Korean and Cuban ones, plus the Rumanian party and possibly the Norwegian one, appeared certain to pass up a subsequent Moscow meeting.

That would mean that only about half the total world membership of Communist parties would be represented in Moscow.

African Week Starts Sunday

A talent show featuring African music and dances will officially open African Week Sunday at 7:30 p.m. in the University Parish Center.

Monday will feature a dinner in the Home Management Resident at 5:30, followed at 7:30 with speech by the Ambassador of Sierra Leone, His Excellency, Mr. Christopher Cole. Other events scheduled for the week include symposiums and panel discussions.

NCAA Fever Hits Campus

You had to get up pretty early to beat seniors Jack McIntosh and Dave McCormick to the ticket line in Memorial Hall yesterday morning.

Both McIntosh and McCormick told the News they were the first of seven students who started the ticket line at 6 a.m. to purchase tickets to watch the Falcon basketball team do battle in the NCAA regional tournaments at Kent next weekend.

By the time the ticket window opened shortly before 8:30, the line stretched east through the Memorial Hall hallway and up the east stairs.

If you didn't make it this morning, you are out of luck. All the tickets have been sold.

Support Charity

The best charity begins at home -- and this year's Charities Week began with a reiteration of that fact.

At last night's Student Council meeting, a letter was read by the Student Body President Rick Helwig to the effect that a "Delt Disaster Fund" had been set up and $1250 of the money raised in the forthcoming Charities Week would be diverted to that fund.

Trustees of the money will be authorized to give $25 to all those persons who lost belongings in last Sunday's Delta Tau Delta fire. The money is intended mainly for the purchase of text books.

Student Council and the student body is to be commended for their swift action in initiating this fund at a time of dire financial need for the fire victims.

Other organizations supported by this year's Charity drive will certainly not be neglected because of this special fund however. With a goal set at $6,700, the Multiple Sclerosis Society, The Perrysburg Heights Project, The Student Emergency Fund, The American Cancer Society, The Crusade For Mercy, and the World University Service will all be better off because of the hard work, planning and generosity of students, faculty, administrators and townspeople alike.

Planned for the coming week are all manner of fund raising projects such as the Beauty and the Beast competition, Union card tournaments, raffles and a charity basketball game.

In urging all to give generously and support Charities Week we can only say -- "every little bit helps."

POLITICAL PREVIEW: 1968

A Look At The GOP

By RALPH COLEMAN, JR.

Nixon is the odds-on-favorite to get the G.O.P. nod, at this stage of the race. Romney's withdrawal and the possibility of a Rockefeller announcement, will be sure to have some effect on Nixon's campaign in the next few months, however.

Ronald Reagan, Governor of California, satisfies the Conservative element of the party, as "Draft Reagan" groups begin to appear throughout the country. Reagan has "politically matured" while serving as Governor, and is sure to be a voice during the Convention, carrying his state as a favorite-son candidate, with 87 whopping electoral votes.---We'll be hearing more from him in the next few months.

A list of G.O.P. hopefuls would not be complete without adding the names of John Lindsay, the Reform Mayor of New York; James Rhodes, Governor of Ohio; Claude Kirk, Governor of Florida; Mark Hatfield, former-Governor and now Senator of Oregon; and the Freshman Senator from Illinois, Charles Percy.

Lindsay, projecting the "young image" which is of prime value this year, has drawn national support. In his dispute with Governor Rockefeller over the New York Sanitation Department strike, he was able to draw national attention for himself. But, no long range predictions as far as he is concerned should be made at this time.

James Rhodes, who will be Ohio's favorite-son candidate at the G.O.P. Convention in July, will hold a powerful position. Although it is safe to assume that he is out of the running for the top spot, I wouldn't be surprised to see him emerge as the Vice Presidential candidate. "Time will tell."

Kirk, likewise carrying Florida's votes to the Convention as a favorite-son candidate, will be another power to reckon with. The future will hold much in store for the honorable Governor of Florida.

Mark Hatfield, again projecting the "young" image, made a name for himself while serving as Governor of Oregon. In the Senate, too, he is respected for his stand and convictions. Here is another man who could emerge with the Vice-Presidential nomination.

Charles Percy wants to be President of the United States. It has been his goal since early youth, and seems likely that it might just be within his grasp. However, he realizes his in-experience in politics, and will make no monumental commitment at this time. Give him a few years, however...

It appears that there is, in truth, "something for everyone" in the Republican Party this year. This could well be the year that the G.O.P. takes over the administration of the United States for a full generation. From those names listed here will come future Presidents and Vice Presidents--how soon remains to be seen.

The New Hampshire Presidential Primary is fast-approaching. Next week, I will devote this column to a study of that primary, its candidates, and the effect which the results will have upon the leading candidates. My own predictions will be recorded here, so I will either be personally elated, or made to "eat my hat" as the March 12th results are announced. Read "New Hampshire: The First Battle", next week in the BG News.

Letters From Our Readers

Moral Apathy

As the fighting in Vietnam grinds on, the question of moral apathy and decay among our citizens becomes increasingly pertinent. This question is particularized in the almost lack of expressions of moral indignation by individual citizens and organized groups to incidents of inhuman treatment of prisoners of war.

Dick Gregory referred to one such incident: the "on the spot" execution of a Viet Cong officer who was a prisoner of war, by Brig. General Nguyen Ngoc Loan, chief of the South Vietnamese national police (see "Time," Feb. 9, 1968, pp. 24-5). Other incidents have occurred, and this past week there were reports that "Lt. Col. Phan Dang Khon, the mayor of Hue and chief of Thua Province, had told American officers, 'There will be summary executions of VC and hopefully some of the infrastructure (Communist party leaders)' " (Bowling Green, Sentinel-Tribune, Feb. 20, 1968, p.1). These incidents occur in direct violation of our nation's tradition and international commitments with regard to the treatment of prisoners of war.

Let it be explicitly clear that in raising this question we do not condone incidents of inhuman treatment of prisoners of war when they are committed by the Viet Cong or North Vietnamese military personnel, or any other belligerents.

We register our dismay and indignation: at the incidents themselves; at the style of leadership within the "allied" forces that allows such events to occur; at the apathy among our fellow citizens who seem to have allowed the arrogance of power to become a cancer in the conscience of our nation.

Gregory Crowd

I feel it is disgusting that a student body with over 13,000 students could not get up enough support to make last Tuesday's Dick Gregory Hour a success. It is surprising that nine-tenths of the student body did not feel that one of the most prominent people in the civil rights movement was not worth $1. Personally I felt it was the most worthwhile $1 and three hours (yes it lasted over one hour) I've spent on campus. Maybe the Junior class didn't charge enough, or maybe it should have been held on a weekend, but if it causes Bowling Green to halt its attempt to find such speakers as Dick Gregory then the whole program was a failure.

SDS Explains

In reply to the letter questioning SDS in Thursday's BG News, let me make the position of SDS structure clear.

The local BG chapter of Students for a Democratic Society has and has had national affiliation since its formation on campus last year. The requirement of national is to have five national members in the local chapter. We have five such persons. However we are not under national control but rather are autonomous to the national office. As in the case of Vietnam Week, we can adopt recommendations made by the national office if we so desire. We are under no pressure by the national office to do anything.

Regarding the Mock Republican Convention, I very seriously doubt if "all Republicans will be putting forth all their time" for anything, much less a play school recess activity like a mock convention, where the only thing accomplished is the strengthening of the fallacy that we are real people. Of course it will be a tight schedule--for everyone. We all have classes, studying, and extracurricular activities, but with the opportunity to educate ourselves and others about the most vital and important issue of today--the war in Vietnam--we must decide whether or not to sacrifice lesser things.

And Student Council, no doubt, was ignorant of the fact that there were such beings as active Republicans or active anything's on campus.

ODK Conference 'Controversial'

Combine a staunch conservative, a proponent of Black Power, and a Protestant evangelist and you have the makings of a controversial meeting in anyone's book.

Such a gathering of the minds, albeit via television, is the program entitled the "Dissenter" arranged by Omicron Delta Kappa (ODK) and Cap and Gown for their Saturday March 9 program in the Alumni Room beginning at 12:30 p.m.

The format of the conference which is open to the public will be the showing of three half hour taped television shows produced by National Educational Television (NET) interspersed by group discussions.

The first program concerns itself with Daniel Watts, editor-publisher of "Liberator" publications, known for stands on Black Nationalism movements. Mr. Watts will be commenting on revolution, the morality of violence, and the "Negro and American have. At this stage of the war, though, I think we are doing the right thing."

General Tillson was also asked how he felt anti-war demonstrations have affected the war effort.

"I'm concerned, because I think it has a strong impact on the unity of the country as a whole," he said. He commented that not all Americans have as a clear an understanding of the purpose or meaning of war and draft dissenters as do college students. "I think it has had unfavorable impact because it is sometimes uncontrolled and often misunderstood."

Seventeen Army ROTC cadets were presented awards by Maj. Gen. John C.F. Tillson, when he visited the University yesterday. The awards and their recipients are:

Military History Award - Jonathan Cherry, MS (Military Science) II.

Advanced Course Identification Tab (to MS II's who have applied for a two-year scholarship)-Virgil Dee Daniel, James D. Eiting, William G. Fischer, Charles F. Kennedy and Glenn H. Sorg.

Scholarship Stars (3.5 or better for first semester, 1967-68)-Gerald D. Blouch, MS IV; Steven W. Bowman, MS IV; Robert K. Kramer, MS IV; Lawrence G. Rice, MS IV; Richard H. Thompson, MS IV; David D. Fero, MS III; Gregory A. Hendel, MS III; James D. Eiting, MS II; James K. Gearhart, MS II; John L. Wackler, MS II; and Monte E. Troutman, MS I.

General Tillson was a luncheon guest of University Vice-President Kenneth H. McFall later in the afternoon. The luncheon was attended by several other University officials and a number of ROTC cadet and cadre officers.

Following the luncheon he spoke to the members of the ROTC advanced course in the River Room and later presented several awards to members of the cadet corps. He met with University President William T. Jerome, before returning to his headquarters at Fort George G. Meade, Md.

Economy."

Following a discussion period, another tape will be seen. Dissenter No. 2 is William F. Buckley, Jr., editor of the National Review, syndicated columnist and television personality who will be discussing the U.S. fiscal policy, the conservative view of federalism and the war in Vietnam.

Finally the Reverend Billy James Hargis, evangelist and founder director of the Tulsa, Oklahoma-based Christian Crusade talks on exposing "apostasy and communism in America" through the Christian Crusade.

The program will run from 12:30 to 3:30 p.m. said Ed Sewell, ODK president. "This should enable anyone wanting to go to the evening basketball game against Marquette to get there on time," Sewell said.

Seminary Head To Speak Sunday

Dr. J.A.O. Preus, president of Concordia Seminary, Springfield, Ill., will speak at the Lutheran Student Center at 5:30 p.m., Sunday.

Visiting Ohio in a series of seminars, the Rev. Dr. Preus will center his remarks around the topic: "The Lutheran Church in an Ecumenical Age."

Having begun his academic career in Minnesota, where his father, the late J.A.O. Preus, served as governor, the Rev. Dr. Preus received his Ph.D. from the University of Minnesota.

Besides his presidency, the Rev. Dr. Preus is a member of the Curriculum on Theology and Church Relations committee which is directly involved in negotiations with the American Lutheran Church.

Gamma Delta, the University's International Association of Lutheran Students is sponsoring Dr. Preus' visit.

United Nations Ambassador From Africa To Visit Zeta Beta Tau House Monday

Christopher Cole, ambassador to the United Nations from Sierra Leone, Africa, will be present for an informal discussion Monday, at the Zeta Beta Tau fraternity, Paul Spector, president of the Law Society, said.

The purpose of this meeting is to give Mr. Cole a chance to rest from his busy schedule and see the campus, and "most important to show him the students," Spector said.

The event is open to students and faculty, and the Law Society encourages them to ask questions. "You are going to be eye to eye with him, he is not going to speak from a lectern," Spector said.

Spector himself is "more interested in the organizational structure of Mr. Cole's government, more specifically, the law-making bodies."

To help stimulate the conversation with their more specialized backgrounds, the following persons will also attend the discussion:

Dr. Russell Decker, professor of business law; Dr. Donald Simmons, instructor in business law, and the prosecutor of Wood County; Edward Ward, assistant professor of business law; Dr. Trevor Phillips, assistant professor of education; Glenn Parsons, probate-juvenile court judge of Bowling Green; and several lawyers from Bowling Green.

Claim Lost Articles Today

Unclaimed jackets, gloves, and umbrellas are only a few of the items in the Lost and Found division of Campus Security that will be given to Goodwill Industries today according to Mrs. Wayne H. Hammond, clerk-typist in the Police Department.

Since September 25, 1967, 7 jackets, 35 umbrellas, and 30 pairs of glasses have accumulated in the Lost and Found storeroom.

Miscellaneous items include a clothes iron, bowling shoes, 2 fraternity pins, 16 high school class rings, and a variety of books.

Lost and Found, open 24 hours a day, is located in the Police Station. Any of the articles may be claimed by describing the article lost, but none of them will be available for recovery, except the class rings after today, Mrs. Hammond emphasized.

4 To Debate At Wayne State

Four University debaters will compete in the fifth annual Wayne State novice division debate tournament at Wayne State University, Detroit, today and tomorrow.

Competing in the six rounds of debate will be Michael R. Munholland, freshman in the College of Business Administration, Gene B. George, freshman in the College of Liberal Arts, William D. Nelsch, freshman in the College of Liberal Arts, and Wenmouth (Bill) Williams Jr., junior in the College of Education.

Dan P. Miller, instructor in speech and director of forensics, stated that the finest novice teams in the country will be taking part in this tournament. Eighty teams will compete.

The Intercollegiate Speech League Two-Men Varsity State Championship Debate today and tomorrow at Ohio State University, Columbus, will determine the state varsity debate champions.

Roger H. Miller, junior in the College of Liberal Arts, and James M. Crawford, junior in the College of Liberal Arts, will debate for Bowling Green in the meet involving 20 teams.

'Dr. Faustus' Film Opens Tonight

"Doctor Faustus" tickets are on sale in the Union lobby. The film will be shown at 7 p.m. and 9 p.m. today and tomorrow and 2:30 p.m. and 7 p.m. Sunday. Price of the tickets is $1.50.

Columbia Pictures filmed the play starring Richard Burton and Elizabeth Taylor in London, during February 1966. It is retold from Christopher Marlowe's play written in 1588.

"Doctor Faustus is a tragical poem," states Nevill Coghill, writer of the "Faustus" screenplay. It is the classic story of a man who sells his soul to the Devil for youth, knowledge, magical powers and a woman in the hope "to gain a deity."

In the play Faustus makes Homer sing for him and adventures into outer space. He has a childish delight in showing off.

Mephistophilis, the Devil's agent takes advantage of his weakness by blinding him with illusions. He further draws Faustus away from God with gaudy gifts, wild visitations and frightening terrors. These distractions also prevent Faustus from repenting, which pleases the Devil.

Vanity overcomes the doctor and he wastes his newly acquired powers on magic. His final use of them is to summon the figure of Helen of Troy to be his mistress.

After this Faustus feels that he is lost because he no longer is capable of repenting. Despair seizes him and he is damned. He must then pay with his life.

"FAITHFUL ANIMALS" -- Thinking of how to save Mistress Mabel from the highwaymen in The Bremen Town Musicians are Fran Veverka, Olga Demidow, Rick Hursh and Bob Arnold.

'Bremen Musicians' Opens For Children

The University Theatre again presents its annual children's show in the Joe E. Brown Theatre tomorrow and Sunday at 7:30 p.m. and 2:30 p.m. respectively.

Bremen Town Musicians by Pat Hal and Al Bahret is this year's production, directed by Sue Radliff, a graduate student in speech. The play is the theatrical version of an old children's story in which Mistress Mabel, the heroine, becomes fed up with the antics of her pets, and kicks them out of the barnyard.

The animals then proceed to Bremetown, where they learn that two desperate highwaymen have robbed Mabel and kidnapped her with the intent to kill her.

The cast includes Nancy Wyche, as Mistress Mabel; Rick Hurson, as Charlie, the rooster; Fran Veverka as Dapper, a hound dog; Olga Demidow as Melpomene, a Persian cat; Bob Arnold, as Horatio, a donkey; Jim Laux as the highwayman; Don Clapp as his young apprentice; and Bob Amsden and Dave Oppen as page boys.

After shows on campus, the production will travel to various elementary schools in the area doing six shows between March 6 and March 23.

Admission to this weekend's performances is 50 cents for adults and 10 cents for students.

Pike's Fete

Celebrates 100th

Pi Kappa Alpha, the first fraternity on campus, will celebrate its 100th anniversary--1868 to 1968 as a national fraternity Saturday.

The annual Founder's Day celebration and banquet will feature Lt. Col. Niles J. Fulwyler, a 1952 PIKA alum, who now is the Pentagon's liaison officer to South America. Next fall Col. Fulwyler will begin a year's tour in Vietnam where he will serve as a battalion commander with the infantry.

Lt. Col. Fulwyler is also scheduled to meet with President Jerome in the afternoon before the Founder's Day celebration.

Student Recital

Flutist, Sally M. Shilnew, junior in the College of Liberal Arts, and violinist, Celia E. Jones, junior in the College of Education, will present a student recital at 8:15 p.m. Sunday in Recital Hall.

Works by Corelli, Vieuxtemps, Piston, Busser, and Beethoven will be included in the recital. Eleanor J. Steele, senior in the College of Education, and Kathleen A. Moore, junior in the College of Education, who are the pianists, and violinist Jenny A. Lea, senior in the College of Education will provide assistance during the recital performance.

UCF Movie

"Munro," is the title of the film to be shown at 9 p.m., today and tomorrow at the UCF center.

The film is a contemporary satire of a 4 year-old boy mistakenly drafted into the army and is unable to convince the authorities that he is not a man.

Hours Change For Library

The trial period to see if the Library should remain open later at night ends at midnight, Friday, March 1, 1968. It has been in effect since January 1, 1968. During this time, the Library has stayed open till midnight instead of the regular 11:00 p.m. closing time. The Library will close at 11:00 p.m. for the remainder of the semester.

Dr. A. Robert Rogers, director of the Library, said that he was not in a position to predict the results of the trial study. He did say, though, that, "No additional money has been provided by the Library's budget to finance staying open an extra hour next year. If we are to extend hours, it will be necessary to cut back somewhere else."

but not Pamprin.

Not all girl's stuff "covers up." Here's one product that does more: PAMPRIN.

PAMPRIN makes a woman look and feel better... without relying on "camouflage." PAMPRIN is specifically designed to get at a basic cause of pre-menstrual problems. Problems of temporary water-weight gain. That puffy feeling that can make you feel miserable the week before your period. (It's that extra water-weight causing pressure on tissues that makes for headaches and pre-menstrual tension.)

PAMPRIN does what aspirin doesn't. It alleviates the "bloating." So it gets at the cause of the pain. Instead of just covering it up. PAMPRIN makes a woman feel more like a woman. Every day of the month. So every coed can live life a little bit better. Now that PAMPRIN is going to college.

PAMPRIN. It's definitely girl's stuff.

Yes - Students Do Read News Poll!!

Fifty-two per cent of the students voting in this week's News Opinion Poll favored the use of military force in regaining the captured ship Pueblo and its crew.

If students have anything to say about drafting women we will not see women drafted into the armed forces, for only 32 per cent of those voting were in favor of this, with 68 percent against.

Eighty-five per cent of those students voting said that they feel the Bowling Green merchants take advantage of students.

All those students responding to this week's Poll said that they read the questions. Pretty good, huh?

Undergraduates Needed For Panel

"We need more students to help select the three outstanding profs," said Phil Campbell, chairman of the Student Academic Affairs Board.

Three professors will be selected for $1,000 distinguished teachers awards, sponsored by the University Parents Club. "Twenty-four out of thirty members of the selection team will be undergraduates," said Campbell, "and we need more interested students to help."

Application are available at the Union Activities Office for students wishing to participate. Professors will be chosen in two shifts. All the professors in each college will be narrowed down to three in each. One professor from each college will be awarded the distinguished teacher award.

Grapplers Hope To Unseat Miami In Mid-Am Tourney

By GARY DAVIS
Assistant Sports Editor

The Miami Redskin grapplers after rolling to a perfect 6-0 mark in dual matches against conference competition, easily picked up the favored role to cop the 17th annual Mid-American Conference championships.

The Redskins will return four of five individual mat champions when the action opens at 7:30 p.m. at Kent State University Friday evening.

Falcon coach Bruce Bellard echoed the thoughts of his fellow MAC coaches when he said, "Miami is definitely the team to beat." "The only way they can be knocked off is, if each school knocks off one of their wrestlers."

Miami led the pack last year with 88 points far ahead of runner-up Toledo with 60.

The Falcons although placing boys in seven weight classes, finished a distant fifth in the tour-namment, no wrestler gaining higher than third place. While giving the nod to Miami, Bellard does not rule out his Falcons.

"It's not out of the realm of possibility," he said, "but we'll have to do our best and receive a little cooperation from the rest of the teams."

Bowling Green holds a 2-2-2 record against MAC opponents this season, while Toledo and Kent State have weilded the most power outside of Miami. Bellard warns that Ohio University also might surprise a lot of people.

"It's the most balanced tournament ever," said the veteran Bellard.

Six defending champions will return to highlight the field of 70 entrants in the annual championships. Miami will feature John Sustersic (152), Walt Podgurski (177), Terry Faulk (191) and Mickey Goldman (HVT). Goldman who was recently injured might possibly miss the tournament.

Also returning will be Gary Baumgardner (137) from Kent State and Rick Martin (167) from Ohio University.

Based on their records, three Falcon grapplers are rated as crown contenders according to coach Bellard. George Kirkwood (130) is 9-2-1, George Ross (167) is 11-2-1, and the third member of the trio Joe Green, is 8-1.

Bellard added though, "I think that I have no weights where we couldn't possibly get a boy in the finals."

Sophomore Kirkwood is 4-0-1 in MAC competition, tied only by Kent's Ray Williams his top challenger. Williams has suffered one conference loss, that to Bill Archer of Marshall.

George Ross dropped a close 3-2 decision to champ Rick Martin in last years' finals, and once again the Bobcat grappler is favored by most in the class. Ross carries a fine 5-0-1 ledger against MAC foes and is given a good chance to cop top honors.

George was tied only by Mitch Gurdus of Toledo.

Another sophomore will carry the Falcon hopes at 177, in Joe Green with a 4-1 league mark. Green's lone loss came 11-2 to Podgurski of Miami. The pair are rated tops in the weight group with little competition except themselves.

Third place finisher in the MAC last year, Craig Bowman is shooting for the top spot, and Faulk will provide a stern obstacle. Bowman is 7-3 on the season, and 4-2 in league action.

Craig finished second in his sophomore year ahead of Faulk. Sporting one of the individual dual records is Chuck Cropley with a 11-5 mark. While he will be hard pressed to topple Kent's Baumgardner, Chuck could finish in second via some good matches.

Rounding out the Falcons roster for the tourney will be Ed Haller (123) 0-3, George Oliver (145) 5-7-3, Terry Dillon (152), 2-0, Pat Willaman (160) 2-5-1, and Gary McDaniel (HVT) 0-4.

"We should wind up no lower than third, if we wrestle at all well," said Bellard.

GOT YOU -- Terry Dillon, who wrestles at 152 is out to take his class as the Falcons hope to take the MAC crown away from Miami.

As Bellard stated, the key to toppling Miami will be knocking off their boys, and it can be most easily done in the lower weights, their only weakness. Any upsets in the higher weights will only make the future brighter.

The four final weights which should be Miami's strength will feature Bill Beacham (MI), Martin, (OU), and Ross (BG) in a battle for the top spot while BG's Green should meet Miami's Podgurski head on for the title there.

BG's Bowman can help out the situation with a victory over Faulk who he'll probably meet in the finals.

At heavyweight, the Redskins have almost certainly lost a first place with Toledo's Paul Elzey having gained the measure of Goldman in the last two meetings.

"Make your life count -- choose a thrilling career with the YMCA. Erie D. Chapman, Executive Vice President of the Toledo YMCA will be in the Placement Office Tuesday, March 5, to interview men and women interested in the YMCA as a career."

Swimmers Seek Eighth Win To Host Eastern Michigan U.

By Dave Egbert
Sports Writer

Bowling Green's varsity swimmers are looking ahead to next week's MAC championships but they still have a match left today at BG against Eastern Michigan.

The Falcons should be high for the Eastern meet, about as high as a dentist filling cavity.

But, then again, there are the seniors who will be swimming their last strokes at home for BG.

Undoubtedly, they'd like to close out their careers with an overwhelming victory.

With Tom Williams finished for the year and Pat Duthie a doubtful starter, the Falcons will have their hands full.

"We're gonna have a real battle with them, make no mistakes about that," commented Falcon coach Tom Stubbs.

"We'll have to keep swimming tough because we're going to have some really rough races," added Stubbs.

Eastern Michigan is paced by Doug Webster, a swimmer who could participate in the 200-yard backstroke, the 200-yard individual medley, and in the 50-yard, 100-yard or 200-yard freestyle events.

The Falcon's Bill Zeeb, BG record holder in the 500-yard and 1,000-yard freestyle events, will be competing against a swimmer who holds marks for Eastern Michigan in the same events.

"They have a real good swimmer in this boy named Rogissart, who swims the same distances as Zeeb, so we should have a lot of competition here," Stubbs said.

Eastern's strong points seem to be in the 200-yard butterfly and in diving, although they are strong overall with depth in each event.

"They are going all out in athletics and have started to do a little more with their swimming program. They have quite a few freshmen swimming for the varsity but they still have a strong team, although they couldn't compare with Miami in our conference," stated Stubbs.

So, the sun will soon be setting on another season, but there is still time for the Falcons to shed a lot of light.

Falcon Icers To Host Mid-West Playoffs

IT'S A HARD SPOK! -- Capt. Pete Gilinson finds the going rough against Toledo but if Pete and his teammates have anything to say this weekend Toledo may find the same treatment in store.

By GREG VARLEY
Assistant Sports Editor

This should be the year.

Bowling Green's hockey team has yet to win a Mid-West Hockey Association Playoff, and if they are to have a year in which to have it happen, it has to be this one.

Toledo, Oberlin, and Dayton, the top teams in the league, are in town this weekend to see if they can keep the Falcons from obtaining their goals.

For Oberlin and Dayton, the weekend could end up a long one. Both have found that Toledo and BG have power within their lines to bring havoc upon the most organized team.

The Yeomen, twice losers to the Falcons, are in with essentially the same team and should provide no greater challenge than before.

For the Dayton Flyers, the situation is much the same. The Flyers were the victims of one of the Falcons early season shutouts.

And so we come to Toledo. Again, as last season, the Rockets could provide the upsetting influence for the Birds in playoffs. Toledo split with BG during the regular season but ended up with the big win--the one that counted toward the league standings.

Toledo split with BG during the regular season but ended up with the big win--the one that counted toward the league standings. That loss gave Toledo the league title denying the same position to Bowling Green.

Toledo brings the same team that they had early in the season, and for the most part, it should be much better with the additional playing experience.

With the addition of new players over semester break and the opportunity that the squad has had to work together since the last TU-BG contest, Bowling Green is stronger.

This is the big one for Bowling Green, - and they're ready to make the most of it.

In almost every category the Falcons hockey team of 1967-68 is

Hockey Times

Times for the weekends games for the playoff are 1:30 pm Saturday for BG-Dayton to be followed by the Oberlin-Toledo contest at 3:30.

On Sunday the winners of the Saturday games will tangle at 3:30 for the league title following the 1:30 game between the Saturday losers.

Falcon Cagers Seek To Maintain Perfect Home Record In Finale

By MIKE CORE
Assistant Sports Editor

Home courts do have their advantages. The Falcons have found that out this year. On the road the basketball team has posted an 8-6 record. But here in the home nest they are next to perfect.

Anderson Arena in Memorial Hall has echoed nothing but cheers this season as the Falcons have posted a perfect 9-0 record in its confines. Most of those wins were convincing too.

The Blue Demons of DePaul bring a 13-11 record into the fray. DePaul has beaten two of the common opponents who also play the Falcons. They have wins over Northern Illinois, 57-55, and Niagara, 79-72. Also they have met Marquette this season and lost, 58-53. Against Dayton they have split. They beat the Flyers in the first meeting, 70-65, then lost, 70-58.

DePaul just recently broke a seven-game losing streak by posting a 111-107 overtime win over Detroit. At one point during the season the record stood at 12-4. Then the roof fell in.

In the Bowling Green series DePaul has met the Falcons 16 times and come out on top nine of these games, including the last three contests.

The Blue Demons sport a balanced line-up with good height. Starting center Bob Zoretich stands 6-7 and is averaging 14.1 points per game. Forward Rich Shealey is 6-3 and scoring at a 8.9 point per game clip. His front court mate Ken Warzynski is 6-7 and scoring with a 14.3 average.

DePaul starts a pair of 6-3 guards in the backcourt in Al Zetzsche and Bob Mattingly. Zetzsche is leading the team with a 14.6 average and Mattingly is hitting the cords for a 3.7 average.

For Bowling Green this game marks more than the end of the season. It marks the end of several good collegiate hardwood careers in Anderson Arena. The Falcon fans will see for the last time on the home hardwood the jumping acrobatics of Al Dixon. The fast expert dribbling and shooting of Al Hairston. The consistent strong defensive play and rebounding of Joe Henderson, probably the most underrated player on the team. The clutch sharp shooting of Carl Assenheimer coming off the bench. And, of course, the twisting fall away soft shooting of Walt Platkowski.

These men and the other nine Falcons on the squad have played their hearts out this year. It seems fitting that the Falcons should close out the season with an unblemished record at Anderson Arena.
